

Beegu

Once there was a small, yellow alien called Beegu, with the longest, thinnest ears and three eyes.

Beegu's spaceship crash landed on Earth. She tried talking to some rabbits but no one seemed to understand her.

Sad and lost Beegu looked far into the distance and could see lots of buildings as tall as mountains and as shiny as the stars. From far away she thought she heard her mother calling.

Beegu realised she didn't like being alone, so she decided to find some friends. She saw a box with a litter of puppies inside, climbed in and cuddled up. She felt joyful but an angry looking grown-up discovered her in the box and threw her out. She felt even sadder.

Beegu walked on. She saw some children playing in a playground, joined in and played a game. She felt wonderful but a grumpy looking grown-up came along and threw Beegu out. She was unhappy and felt alone.

Beegu walked on. She thought she heard her mother calling and looked up at the sky. She saw a glowing light coming from a spaceship. It was her father. He had found her! She felt much happier.

Beegu was filled with happiness. She told her parents that some big creatures were unfriendly and heartless, but some small ones were friendly and full of kindness.
